

Introduction

The North Carolina Newspaper Index was first created to assist patrons in locating North Carolina newspapers for research and/or Genealogical purposes. The index was part of the North Carolina Newspaper Project website and provided users with relevant information about hundreds of Tar Heel newspapers such as the newspaper's current and previous names, the date range of the newspaper, and the newspaper's OCLC number. The latter is helpful to users requesting newspaper titles through Interlibrary Loan.

This index is sorted by county and then by city. To jump to a specific county, please click on the appropriate county link in the Table of Contents.

Please note that this index, while rich and detailed, is not comprehensive nor is it current. It was last updated in 2002, and does not reflect the most recent North Carolina newspaper information. Moreover, it describes a variety of newspapers throughout the state, not just those held by the State Library of North Carolina. To search the newspapers held by the State Library of North Carolina, please visit the local catalog at: <http://go.dcr.state.nc.us/>. Conduct a search with the "Collection or Location Limit" set to "Newspapers".
